I. INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this thesis is to develop a comprehensive management guide for field activity comptrollers. The management guide will be included in the Practical Comptrollership Course (PCC) offered by the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California, and is primarily intended for use by PCC students when relieving field activity comptrollers or for use as a routine management tool.

The management guide was developed by first identifying the functions and responsibilities performed by field activity comptroller departments and then addressing each of these functions and responsibilities through a series of questions and specific statements. The checklist guide was reviewed by ten Navy comptrollers for accuracy and completeness.

The management guide, when implemented, should enhance the entire relieving process for field activity comptrollers as a result of more knowledgeable relieving participants and step-by-step turn-over procedures. In addition, the management guide can be used by newly reporting comptrollers to determine the effectiveness of the current comptroller organization. Information gained by completing the management guide can be used by the comptroller to establish goals and objectives for his/her tour.

A. BACKGROUND

Past students of the PCC suggested that relieving procedures be added to the PCC textbook as an aid to field level comptrollers reporting to new commands. Similar guides exist for most Navy sponsored training and as a whole are effective.

B. RESEARCH OBJECTIVE

The research objective was to develop a comprehensive management guide for field activity comptrollers. The guide was written by functional area to coincide with the typical organization of a comptroller department at the field activity level. The three functional areas are General Comptroller Department, Budget Division, and Accounting Division.

C. RESEARCH QUESTION

The primary research question was this: What functions and processes should be monitored by field activity comptrolle ; to assist them in managing their organizations more efficiently and effectively? Subsidiary research questions were as follows:

- * What functions and processes are performed by field activity comptroller departments?

- * What are the established performance standards for field activity comptroller departments set by higher authority (major/sub-claimant)?
- * What qualitative and/or quantitative data can be used to monitor the performance of field activity comptroller departments?

D. SCOPE, LIMITATIONS, AND ASSUMPTIONS

This thesis focuses on the functions and responsibilities of comptroller departments at the field activity level because the majority of students who will ultimately use the management guide are employed at this level.

The management guide is intended for use by comptrollers from all warfare communities (e.g., aviation, submarine and surface); therefore, it was written to be generic in nature. In cases where the management guide addresses a topic pertinent to a specific type of naval activity, it is either identified as such or is intuitively obvious to the reader.

A crucial assumption made in preparing the management guide is that the student has some training or experience in financial management or accounting. It was also assumed that the student has been introduced to the major instructions and manuals governing Navy financial management. Given these assumptions, the management guide does not include specific financial management instructions or address topics in the same detail as the PCC textbook.

E. LITERATURE REVIEW AND METHODOLOGY

Information for this thesis was obtained through two research methods: a review of current Navy financial management directives, instructions and manuals and other pertinent literature; and field research.

1. Literature Review

A thorough review of available research was conducted to prepare a preliminary outline of the management guide. The review encompassed previous research conducted in the area of Navy financial management, major Navy financial management manuals (e.g., the Navy Comptroller (NAVCOMPT) Manual and Financial Management of Resources Operation and Maintenance of Shore Activities (NAVSO P-3006)), and textbooks used in the Financial Management (837) curriculum at the Naval Postgraduate School.

The preliminary outline, arranged by functional area, was initially completed with information received from the following Navy Type Commanders (TYCOMs):

- * Commander, Naval Air Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet (COMNAVAIRLANT);
- * Commander, Naval Submarine Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet (COMNAVSUBLANT);
- * Commander, Naval Surface Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet (COMNAVSURFLANT);
- * Commander, Naval Air Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet (COMNAVAIRPAC);
- * Commander, Naval Submarine Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet (COMNAVSUBPAC); and

* Commander, Naval Surface Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet
(COMNAVSURFPAC).

This information was in the form of directives and instructions governing all aspects of financial management at ashore field activities. Specific performance standards were included when generically applicable to activities of all TYCOMs.

2. Field Research

Field research included personal and telephone interviews with ten past and present Navy field activity comptrollers. Each comptroller was provided with a copy of the management guide and requested to verify it for accuracy and completeness. Invaluable information was received through this research method, as "in-the-field" experience was applied in making corrections and updating the guide to bridge the time lag between written manuals and current operations.

F. ORGANIZATION OF STUDY

Chapter II identifies the functions and responsibilities of field activity comptroller departments. Chapter III is the Management Guide for Field Activity Comptrollers. Chapter IV provides conclusions and recommendations. Definitions of technical terms used in comptroller departments are included in the Appendix.

II. COMPTROLLER DEPARTMENT ORGANIZATION, FUNCTIONS, AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The field activity comptroller is responsible for the following (NAVCOMPT Manual, paragraph 012100):

- * providing technical guidance and direction in financial management throughout the local organization as a staff service to the commanding officer;
- * maintaining a classification of the programs administered, their objectives, and a current inventory of budget plans and program schedules;
- * formulating, reviewing and monitoring execution of local budgets;
- * collecting obligation, expenditure, cost, and other accounting and operating data;
- * reviewing program performance against the financial plan; and
- * promoting economy and efficiency in the performance of assigned programs.

The comptroller accomplishes these assignments through two divisions, budgeting and accounting. A typical field activity comptroller department organization is depicted in Figure 1. (PCC Textbook Companion Guide, p. H-25)

A. BUDGETING

The Budget Division's primary purposes are to initiate actions which identify and assess activity funding requirements through the budget formulation process and to monitor the budget execution of the approved programs.

(Navy Financial Management and Accounting, p. 1-21) In this sense the budget formulation process includes those actions performed in the development, review, justification, and presentation of budget estimates. The budget execution process includes all actions required to accomplish effectively, efficiently, and economically the programs for which funds were requested and approved by competent higher authority.

The major functions and responsibilities of the Budget Division are to (PCC Textbook Companion Guide, p. H-24):

- * provide guidance and instructions for preparation of the activity's budget;

B. ACCOUNTING

The purpose of the Accounting Division is to provide full disclosure of the financial results of operations to meet the requirements of both internal management and external agencies. (Navy Financial Management and Accounting, p. 1-16) The Accounting Division provides management with timely financial information necessary to support the preparation of budget estimates and facilitate the budget execution process.

- * What approach to internal budget calls does the activity use:
  - Zero based budgeting? (Budgets are built from the ground up.)
  - Incremental budgeting? (Plus/minus deviations from last year's amount)
  - Provide control numbers? (Tell the cost centers how much they will get)
- * Is the activity's budget call clear/concise, timely and comprehensive?

2. Budget Execution

Information for the following section is taken from (NAVCOMPT Manual, Volume 7, Chapter 3; NAVSO P-3006, Chapters 3 and 5; PCC Textbook, Module D).

a. Resource Authorizations

- * Is activity funding adequate to fulfill the activity's mission as assigned?
- * Review the activity's Resource Authorizations (NAVCOMPT Form 2168-1s). (NAVSO P-3006, paras. 305-306)
- * What is the activity's New Obligational Authority (NOA) stated in column (11) of the NAVCOMPT Form 2168-1? This figure represents the money value of gross adjusted obligations which may be incurred against NOA for the current fiscal quarter and is subject to Title 31 U.S. Code 1517 (discussed later).
- * What is the amount of Funded Reimbursable Obligational Authority estimated in addition to the activity's NOA? This is funding received from other activities specifically for support provided to them by your activity.
- * Are there any maximum (ceiling) or minimum (floor) amounts of an appropriation designated for a specified purpose, often referred to as fences? Examples of these amounts administered as targets or limitations imposed by Congress are: ceiling--travel funding, floor--maintenance of real property facilities.
- * Are there any other special limitations, restrictions or targets identified in the remarks section of the NAVCOMPT Form 2168-1s?
- * Check the AAA/FIPC funding report. Are the activity's resource authorizations properly input?

b. Budget Policy/Control

- * Is the activity currently under investigation for possible Title 31 U.S. Code 1301 (a) violations for improperly using funds or moving/interchanging appropriations without proper disclosure and approval? (NAVCOMPT Manual, para. 073200 and NAVSO P-3006, para. 306) An example of a 1301 violation would be using O&M,N funds for a new truck worth $20,000.
- * What local controls exist to prevent misuse of funds?
- * Is the activity currently under investigation for possible Title 31 U.S. Code 1517 violations for overspending or overobligating any of its allotted funds? (NAVCOMPT Manual, para. 073200 and NAVSO P-3006, para. 306) If yes, what is the status of violation reports? (NAVCOMPT Manual paras. 032010-3b and 032011 and NAVSO P-3006, para. 607)
- * Review methods for prevention of overobligation and overexpenditure. Are procedures established to quickly identify problems and determine causes of significant variances? (NAVSO P-3006, para. 404)
- * Review expense/investment obligations. (NAVCOMPT Manual, para. 075001) O&M,N funds may not be used to buy equipment with a system unit cost greater than $15,000. Have new systems been purchased piecemeal to circumvent this ceiling?
- * NAVCOMPT Manual para. 073002, stipulates that no more than 20 percent of an annual appropriation shall be obligated during the last two months of the fiscal year. #### IV. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The initial intent of this thesis was to develop a management guide, in the form of relieving procedures, for use by field activity comptrollers reporting to new commands. As the study progressed it was obvious to the researcher that due to the length and detail of the management guide it would be impractical for comptrollers to complete the guide during the course of the normal relieving process (typically one to two weeks). However, completion of the management guide by newly reporting comptrollers during the first several months of their tours' does provide a diagnostic review of the current organization and can be useful in establishing future goals and objectives for the department.

Financial management in the Navy is a dynamic field characterized by ever changing rules, regulations, and procedures. In view of this fact the researcher recommends that the Management Guide for Field Activity Comptrollers be reviewed and updated on an annual basis.
